

SMALL BUT MEANINGFUL

by Bona Rae Villarta (April 18, 2011)

Background: The Saturday before I wrote this, my high school friends and I had a small reunion at a friend's house in Marcelo Green, Parañaque. While I was there, we told to each other a lot of things about us and our classmates who were not there.

We're all in the house of a former batchmate
Telling to each other what had happened over the years
Since we separated ways
Even though it's hard to swallow for some
That the fact that we are in different worlds
Means that the worlds we leave behind have changed a lot
For some, while others haven't changed at all.

While many couldn't make it
Due to prior commitments
The ones who could bring life to the conversation
And tell everything they had done
And tell whatever happened to those who don't know
And those who couldn't make it.

We hope we can continue this until we all go up to Heaven.

Want more poems like this? Visit <http://sites.google.com/site/bonarae/> for more.

This work is licensed under the Creative Commons Attribution-ShareAlike 3.0 Philippines License. To view a copy of this license, visit <http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-sa/3.0/ph/> or send a letter to Creative Commons, 171 Second Street, Suite 300, San Francisco, California, 94105, USA.